

Lauxera Capital Partners Acquires Galen Data

Combining Forces to Deliver Mission-Critical Software Solutions to Medical Device Companies

Paris (France), Houston (USA), San Francisco (USA) – November 25, 2024 – Lauxera Capital Partners announces the acquisition of Galen Data, a leading provider of secure, cloud-based connectivity solutions for medical devices. This transaction follows Lauxera's 2022 acquisition of Matrix Requirements, a leading ALM and eQMS software solution for medical device R&D and Quality teams.

This strategic transaction brings together two industry leaders serving the same end-customers with highly complementary products.

"The Galen team has built an exceptional product providing medical device companies a cost-effective, compliant, and secure solution for medical device cloud connectivity. Innovation in Medtech is no longer only about better electronic, metal, and plastic designs. Galen empowers Medtech companies to improve care by leveraging the data generated by their medical devices. "We are excited to work hand in hand with management to strengthen the company's global commercial engine," said Samuel Levy, Founding Partner, Lauxera Capital Partners.

For Galen Data, this acquisition represents an exciting new chapter with expanded financial resources and a broader, global team.

"We're incredibly excited to join forces with Lauxera Capital Partners and Matrix Requirements. Their strategic insights and global reach will allow us to accelerate growth into new markets, expand our services, and continue delivering cutting-edge solutions to the medical device industry. This partnership empowers us to take our business to the next level and better serve our clients while pushing forward the innovation that's at the core of everything we do," Chris DuPont, CEO, Galen Data.

"This acquisition is an important step towards our vision to provide turnkey vertically-integrated software solutions to address pain points faced by medical devices companies. I am thrilled to welcome Galen's team." added Laurent Grandidier, Executive Chairman of the Board.

Lauxera Capital Partners was advised by Goodwin Proctor on legal and tax matters.
